

Work shadowing as a physician or approbation

To whom does this leaflet apply?

- Physicians who would like to do a work shadowing in Germany, e.g. in a hospital, in order to prepare for the technical language test or for taking up work in Germany.
- Doctors who wish to obtain approbation in order to practice medicine in Germany and thus prepare for a specialised language or specialist examination.

Unlike an internship, a work shadowing is not an employment, but characterized by the gathering of knowledge and experience in a field of activity without a time and content definition or legal and actual integration into the place of work.

You may not carry out medical activities in the context of work shadowing and approbations. Moreover, carrying out medical activities (including routine activities such as taking blood, closing wounds, assisting during operations or examining patients) without a professional license or license to practice medicine is punishable.

For internships, please see our separate leaflet. To carry out a medical internship, it is already required to have a professional license.
